PACIFIC MAIL

Examination of Henry Clews and Others

NEW YORK Jan 2—The Pacific Mail investigation was resumed to-day. Kasson was the only member of the committee absent.

Henry Clews testified that he was a director of the Pacific Mail thought he went in under the Stockwell administration was not a member of the executive committee in February 1872 and had no recollection of a resolution passed authorizing the expenditure of money for the subsidy did not know Irwin had been employed to procure the subsidy until after it was obtained had no knowledge of the means used and expenses incurred to obtain the subsidy was a member of the auditing committee after the subsidy was obtained did not know of any accounts audited relating to these expenses never knew of any money expended by Irwin until the spring of 1873 was of the opinion that all knowledge of expenses incurred for subsidy was studiously kept from the board of directors, though Stockwell was a [illegible] in the spring and a loser in the fall of '72 in dealings in Pacific Mail stock no knowledge had come to the directors as a board of money spent to procure the subsidy until after it became a law When the board did learn the fact it was a matter of surprise to them

Lockwood of Lockwood & Co [illegible] was chairman of the executive committee at the time of his death (February 1872) testified that his father and Billings were opposed to the operations at Washington Witness found an entry in his book September 1873, of a check for $300 000 charged to the Pacific Mail Company There were no other checks of the same amount on that date. The check was on Oriental Bank

Hatch testified said he could find no trace of this check in the books of the company on the same date

H B Laidlaw of Lees & Waller bankers produced correspondence which passed between Irwin and the firm to which witness belonged It related to the purchase of a sight draft on San Francisco for $13 000.

NEW YORK, Jan 2.—In the Pacific Mail subsidy investigation to-day Phelps testified that he was second Vice President of the company and was in the service from 1861 to 1873 his duties being confined to the China and Japan branch Stockwell told him money had been spent in obtaining the subsidy in Washington that he supposed there was to be an investigation and he must send Irwin out of the country This was in September, 187 When the subsidy failed to be procured Irwin told McLean it could not be obtained without the expenditure of a half million dollars McLean reported this at a meeting of the board of directors when it was promptly voted down

In the course of the session to-day Mr Hatch asked leave to reply to an anonymous publication which stated that some checks for money paid in the subsidy business had passed through the banking house of Rufus Hatch & Co The chairman declined to grant leave and said Hatch would have every opportunity to answer when Irwin had been examined.

WASHINGTON Dec 31.—Frederick Knowland, agent of the Union and Central Pacific railroads, testified that his companies had some arrangement with the Pacific Mail as to tariff rates

Bellows Vice President testified that he did not know how much was spent in Washington to obtain the subsidy, thought the contract in regard to the [illegible] Irwin.

Mr Lockwood testified that he had heard that $1,000 000 had been spent to procure the subsidy

[illegible]

The directors of the Pacific Mail Co had a protracted and animated meeting this evening The business of the meeting was not made public the directors saying to reporters, in answer to inquiries that they were minding their own business, and that newspapers should mind theirs.

The staff of the Spanish embassy here have paid their homage and presented an address to the King He in reply said he would not disguise the difficulties of the task and that he sought the aid of able men of all parties. His first wish was for the pacification of Spain, as he desired to be King of all Spaniards

What the Carlists Think About It.

LONDON Jan 2.—A telegram received at the Carlist bureau from headquarters in Spain says Alfonso's pronunciamento leaves the situation unchanged There is no defect on in the Carlist army The change strengthens us and weakens the enemy

Amnesty to Carlists

PARIS Jan. 2.—King Alfonso has granted amnesty to all Carlists

AGIN IT.—The new currency party just organized at Indianapolis proposes to go it on the general idea of an old Georgian of whom General Robert Toombs told the President last spring. During the hard times of 1837, when money was scarce and the State Bank was at its wit's end, this astuted financier of the rural districts came to Milledgeville and sought his representatives in the Legislature. "Mr Toombs," says he "we must have more money We're obleeged to have more money." "Well," says Toombs in his brusque way "how in the h— are you going to get it?" "Out of the State Bank" says the financier "But" says Toombs struck by the earnestness of his constituent "how is the State Bank going to get it?" "Stamp it! Stamp it!" roared Toombs "and how in the h— is it going to redeem the money it stamps?" A glow suffused the face of the financier "Why, Mr Toombs" says he "that's just what I'm a comin to You see Mr Toombs I'm agin redemption"—Louisville Courier Journal

The Coos Bay News tells a good dog story. A Coos county sheep-raiser came to the State Fair at Salem last fall, and while there he saw a red haired man sitting in a stall on some straw, with a black-and-white dog, and a card over the stall marked "Dorg fer sale" He asked what kind of a dog it was, and was told 'an Australian sheep-colley " Next he inquired the price of the dog and received the answer that it was $20 Our Coos county wool producer told him that he would see him again, and went off to borrow $10 of Dad Yoakam who was admiring several fine horses belonging to Gen Nesmith He then came back and bought the dog paying the canine's fare ($3) on the cars to Roseburg Two days later he arrived home, and it being nearly dark his wife asked what he intended to do with the dog Well, he said, he guessed it was about as well to turn him out with the sheep His son therefore turned him out with the sheep because he was supposed to be a sheep dog. Well, he was. He only killed twenty-two of them before morning, and now his mortal remains are [illegible] on the hillside because there is no [illegible] foundry at Drewsey valley

MONDAY MORNING JANUARY 4 1875

A CASE OF MISPLACED CONFIDENCE.

Some apology may be necessary for the mention of Boss Shepherd in this way If so we hope the friends of President Grant will find it amply set forth in the following paragraphs

The President is credited with a disposition to stand by his friends and take care of his wounded He has been known, before this, to leave the ninety and nine advisers of experience and sagacity, and go after some lost scabby sheep who has been branded by the people and sent out from the Republican flock It is hardly necessary to cite any cases We do not mean to say that Shepherd is, was, or ever has been a scabby sheep, but that he got the benefit of the popular branding iron no one will question The President went out after him, and (we regret to say it) while he was abroad a good many of the ninety and nine got disgusted and went over into another fold. They didn't like the Boss Shepherd Whether or not they will ever "come home, bringing their tails behind them," is not yet clearly seen

It must be rather discouraging to the President to find out that after all he has done for Governor Shepherd in the way of lifting him out of the mire, caressing him, and recommending him to the tender regards of the Senate, that individual is really a wolf in sheep's clothing Such, however, seems to be the case Innumerable Washington correspondents assert, and innumerable newspapers all over the country are anxious to have Grant believe, that the Boss is a large stockholder in The Capital, Don Piatt's newspaper Everybody knows how The Capital abused the President during the District investigation, how it accused him of sharing in the plunder of the Ring, while it vigorously defended Shepherd Leading Republican papers in the East now say there is no doubt that Shepherd held stock in Piatt's paper sufficient to control its course in regard

What will Grant do about it? No one can guess, for he has not yet shown that he can resent the treachery of corrupt men Worse than that, he seems to be afflicted with a moral strabismus which prevents his recognizing a corrupt man when he sees him

EMOTIONAL STUPIDITY

The case of the Bulletin is, we fear, past all hope At first we were disposed to smile at its dullness, but of late its stupidity is really painful We wish for the sake of decent journalism its imbecile mutterings could be restrained Such exhibitions as that of Saturday tend to bringing the profession into disrepute Thus in its prospectus [illegible] of its political future

It will [illegible] what is right and condemn what is wrong in all parties. Its sympathies and tendencies are originally Republican But inside or outside the party, it points out its wrongdoings, corrupt practices and bad men,'

Our [illegible] is [illegible] tified with the sentence italicized above It queries

What does it mean anyhow? It appears somewhat stupid in a paper that puts on academic airs and arrogates the liberty of criticising the language of less pretentious people

It is not our fault if the Bulletin cannot understand the King's English We grieve that it is so addicted to stealing its editorials that it has forgotten even the meaning of the word "original," and its derivative "originally" Between kleptomania and emotional stupidity its existence must be a great burden If its directors do not, at once, levy an assessment and send the editor to a district school, we shall call the attention of some benevolent association to their case The concern ought to have a decent burial, and a journal which makes no "pretensions" to a knowledge of the commonest definitions of English words has no excuse for living

THE BURNING OF THE JAPAN.

The New York Tribune takes the same view of the loss of the P. M. S. S. Co's steamship Japan [illegible] by the OREGONIAN on receipt of intelligence of the disaster. It says

"The news of the latest disaster at sea is horrible, but not surprising. When a steamship company [illegible] stock-jobbers instead of sailors and when even the stock jobbing man [illegible] not continued long enough in [illegible] hands to enable them to do more [illegible] and intensify the demoralization of the service nothing exceeding escape from disaster could [illegible] at the public. We are as yet without full particulars as to the origin of the disaster to the ill [illegible] ship Japan. But there can be no doubt about its primary cause The [illegible] steamship line in the world must at some time or another expect an accident, but that the succession of accidents [illegible] the Pacific Mail Steamship Company [illegible] to anything but gross mismanagement, lack of competent officers and lack of discipline in the force, is impossible.

The N Y Times is equally severe in its denunciation of the criminal carlessness to which the loss of the Japan must be attributed It seizes upon this opportunity to speak in strong language of a popular folly —"stock gambling" After remarking that [illegible] investors who think they see their way clear to get a high rate of interest for their money persist in entrusting it to speculators [illegible] who may have no business qualification of any kind the Times makes the following pungent remarks

"The Pacific Mail Company has evidently been in very bad hands for years past It has been the prey of speculating directors and lobbyists, and although these persons now impudently try to evade the responsibility for their acts and roundly abuse those who have brought them to grief they will not be able to blind the public as to the true state of the case. Here are the chief officers of the company testifying that Stockwell the president ordered checks to be drawn for three quarters of a million of dollars, without giving any account either at the time or afterward of the uses to which the money was applied What right had the directors, after such a transaction as that to make any compromise with S[illegible] If they had [illegible] the parts of honest men would they not have informed the shareholders of the wholesale plunder to which they had been subjected and even now do they talk of prosecuting Stockwell? Do they not rather still keep Rufus Hatch as managing director although Mr H must have known perfectly well the kind of President Stockwell was? And what a prettily managed company it is All the experienced officers [illegible] have been dismissed. The result is that one fine ship is [illegible] at sea—a vessel which cost the company a million—and was insured for only $150 000 Another good ship got out of this port last Saturday without getting disabled by running against a coal barge. Rufus Hatch says a reporter "was on board when the accident occurred I [illegible] If [illegible] ever to be [illegible]

sound condition directors of this kind will have to be cleaned out Even the World after vainly trying to shield Stockwell and his confederates was obliged to make a clean breast of it yesterday and demand a change Like Mr Hatch, at whose Sunday—for the operations [illegible] managers of the line, it [illegible] dolefully [illegible] must be managers, and not first stock-jobbers and only second[illegible] And again it says—merely echoing what we have said for days past—'So long as they (the managers) dabble in management and dive in speculation so long will the results of their management be told in the unmistakable way in which the story of the Japan tells it As in the case of the Tweed ring, after abusing us for expressing certain opinions the World is compelled at last to turn round and steal them all

There will, some day, have to be a great clearing out of rubbish in Wall street All sorts of bubble companies are now floating there, which the first mischance causes to collapse And we doubt whether any public journal could do a greater public service in the present day than to expose them one after the other even at the risk of being accused of receiving bribes varying in amount from ten to a hundred thousand dollars by those highly moral persons the lobbyists, The virtuous indignation which these gentry display when the companies for which they are retained and which they have robbed are attacked is a highly improving spectacle The poor Pacific Mail Company for instance, was bled to the tune of at least $200 000 for use in Albany How much of that stuck to the fingers of the lobbyists? Again look at the collapse in Wabash on Saturday and the rickety condition of half a dozen other stocks of that kind They go about on one leg, and the least puff of wind knocks them over A return to specie payments and to sounder modes of doing business will sweep away not a few wild-cat securities will put others now at a fictitious price on their proper level will bring stronger holders into the street and will generally improve the entire position and tone of the financial market

The Times might have added that while the Japan was burning at sea, and the Colon was disabled in New York the Alaska, another steamship of the same line lay stranded at Hongkong From all the published evidence on the management of the P. M S S Co the conclusion seems irresistible that every one of the long series of disasters which have been recorded in the past three years have been the result of gross negligence and criminal incompetence There ought to be an end of this

A Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune writes that the President is really considering the propriety of offering the Russian mission to Carl Schurz Two Cabinet officers are said to have advised the tender These statements are made upon excellent authority The Tribune thinks the appointment would be acceptable to Republicans in the West If anybody had suggested such a thing two years ago what a howl would have risen from a thousand organs But times have changed and the elections have shown that men like Schurz are not to be driven out of a party with sneers and contempt. And then the number of organs has grown wonderfully less

An afternoon paper in Chicago has just been caught in a ridiculous inadvertence It recently published what purported to be a special dispatch from Carson Nevada, giving an account of the execution of John Murphy a murderer It happened that Murphy was reprieved on that very day, and the fact was announced in the morning papers, next day B H please copy

[illegible] tell a good story on Gen. N P Banks. It is to the effect that in his recent lecture in Philadelphia when he essayed to suggest a new cabinet for Grant, among others he mentioned Hon T. A R. Nelson, of Tennessee, who died a year ago. For shame, Natty! How can you expect to be Charles Sumner's successor after such conduct as that?

The Spanish Republic is dead and Castelar has given in his adhesion to King Alfonso. It is probable that Carlism, too will die soon There is one peculiar feature the Pope, who has all along openly encouraged and sympathized with Don Carlos, now sends his benediction to Alfonso. Can he support both of them?

Rev. W R. Huntington, of Worcester Mass declines the Protestant Episcopal bishopric of Iowa, to which he was recently elected Dr Henry C Potter of New York, declined the same office before him

Washington correspondents write that the House Committee on Railroads and Canals has decided to recommend a subsidy of $8 000 per mile for the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad

SINGULAR ROBBERY OF A COLUMBIA COLLEGE PROFESSOR.—New York, Dec. 27—This morning Prof. W. G Peck of Columbia College, was robbed of his family chest containing securities to the amount of $40,000 It is reported that the robbery was committed by his son aged 18 years Peck gave information to the police, and detectives were put on the track Early in the day the son returned home and said he knew nothing of the robbery, although the servant said she saw him and his companions take the chest away His father refused to make a charge against him.

The Chicago Post pretends to be indignant because respectable ladies on board a steamship declined to associate with the notorious strumpet, Josie Mansfield who smuggled herself on board and after the vessel had put to sea boldly appeared in the cabin and impudently took her place at the table among the ladies If the infamous Josie would try that game on a Mississippi steamboat ten to one she would be gently pitched off upon the nearest sand bar

Louise Kellogg fastens her garters with $500 clasps Anna Dickinson snaps a pair of amethysts round her little calves and the widow of Capt Jack ties up her army socks with a pair of Shacknasty Jim's old suspenders

It is announced that the New York Star will be enlarged on January 1st and become the organ of the reformed Democracy

St Charles Hotel Eugene City is refitted in excellent style Comfortable beds are provided and a first class table is set. Travelers will find it a most desirable home

HIBERNIANS.—The Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society will hold an election for officers at 7:30 this (Monday) evening at their hall. Arrangements will also be made at the meeting this evening for the annual ball to be given March 17th—St. Patrick's Day. A full attendance is requested.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The new year has commenced rather "foggy."

This is the week of prayer among the churches.

Only one mail arrives and leaves on Sunday—the west side.

The State Horticultural Society will meet in this city the 14th inst.

Board of Trustees will hold a meeting this evening in East Portland.

The Arcadian base ball club propose to give a masquerade ball on the 20th.

The steamer California is announced to sail for the north Tuesday, 7th inst.

Letters patent have [illegible] to Mr. D. Mathew, of Portland, for "steps and [illegible] ings for mill spindles."

Since the present Metropolitan Police system was inaugurated, there have been 7,100 arrests made, including State and city cases.

For some time it will come awkward to put down a figure 5 instead of a 4 in dating letters. It is difficult to realize that 1874 is gone forever.

The postmaster is furnishing his autograph just now to box holders and is willing to continue in the same line of duty to Uncle Samuel.

The reception at the Museum on New Year's day was very successful. About 430 children visited the Museum, and were delighted with what they saw.

The dramatic company which has been giving performances at the Museum for the past two weeks, will entertain the citizens of Vancouver this evening.

On last Friday a frontlet belonging to the Chief Engineer's hat was lost. The finder by returning the same to the saloon of W. O. Brden, will confer a great favor.

This evening there will be a meeting of Willamette Lodge, A. F. & A. M.; Willamette Lodge No. 6, I. O. R. M.; North Portland Lodge No. 2, I. O. G. T.; Cleanthe Grove No. 4, U. A. O. D.

The East Portland brass band has received a new member, [illegible] D. Austin, the well known [illegible] "Russ" with a fine son on last Friday. "Russ" went because there was not a brace of them. The fond parent declares that he will put the young [illegible] to blowing a brass horn when he gets [illegible] enough.

Forty-five was the number that won the gold watch at Tom O'Brien's last Saturday ev[en]ing. The lucky man was Mr. Wm. Young. Our "Extra" felt happy when 42 was thrown for him, but alas! for human hopes! the next shake, the winning one, made him "shake," and he "stepped down and out" with that grace of style which is peculiar to him.

WEEK OF PRAYER.

The undersigned pastors of several churches of this city met on New Year's Day, and arranged the following order of union exercises, to be observed during the week of prayer, selecting such topics from the programme proposed by the Evangelical Alliance as was deemed best fitted to our circumstances. All [illegible] having any prescribed method of serving this week of prayer, are cordially invited to attend and participate in these exercises. The usual church services will be held on the first Sunday, and the second will be hereafter provided for.

Monday, January 4th, 7½ o'clock P. M.—Con[fession] and humiliation, in view of personal sins. At the Congregational church, conducted by Rev. D. J. Pierce.

Tuesday, 7½ o'clock P. M.—The need of increased intelligence, and the purification of public opinion. At the Baptist church, conducted by Rev. A. L. Lindsley.

Wednesday, 7½ o'clock P. M.—The conversion of the young through the agency of the family and the church. At the Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. R. Bentley.

PERSONAL.

Henry Ackerman, the genial heavy man of the "Dollar Store," is off for Europe. He sailed on the Ajax. Business is the object of his trip.

Among the passengers on board the Oriflamme bound for this port we observe the name of our old and esteemed fellow townsman, Joseph Buchtel, Esq. He returns after a protracted visit to the Atlantic [illegible] will be heartily welcomed by his numerous friends.

BAPTIST MINISTERIAL MEETING.

EVENING SESSION.

The meeting convened at 8 o'clock. After prayer by Bro. Russ, the subject of "Home Mission Needs" was discussed.

Bro. Jones gave an account of North Salem mission.

Bro. Pierce thought if our home missions have the right motto—"North America for Christ"—they ought to do much for Oregon.

Bro. Stearns emphasized the needs of the field.

Bro. Mattoon thought we should not ask foreign help till we try to help ourselves. The Baptists of Oregon are rich and should help our mission among themselves.

Dr. Hill said there is a thirst for the Gospel; yet people are prepared for the truth.

Bro. Jones believes in crutches and cork legs till we can get on without them. Let us ask our neighbors, instead of the N. B. Board, we may be trying to slip coin in the wrong direction. No community here will let a minister suffer who trusts them.

Bro. Mayers would ask help that such men as Bro. Weston might work for souls instead of for their bread. Time is wasted by lack of money.

Elder D. J. Pierce delivered a lecture on "dangers and helps of science to religious teachers." Truth is like a many-sided jewel. It seems a different body from different points. The first danger lies in the tendency to question all mysteries of the Bible. Students of science in watching the demonstrations forget the mysteries lying back of every truth. Every truth has its holy of holies, into which none can enter. Scientists are terribly at loggerheads about the origin of things. We are too ready to accept uncompleted evidence against the Bible. Again science tends to make scholars substitute law for personal force. Step by step the personal God seems to recede from us till law usurps the throne. This lessens our personal interest in God as we are constituted. This is not a necessary, but a natural result. But there are helps also. The first great aid is that which science gives to interpretation. Greek, and Latin, and Hebrew lexicons have been furnished by science. Ordnance surveys have dug under Jerusalem as Schliemann dug under Troy. But science enlarges the sphere of demonstrated truth. Geology stretches out limits of history; astronomy multiplies the glory of God; chemistry has demonstrated unity of force, hence of God; botany has revealed the beauty of Christ's reference to lilies, and every science increases the glory of God. But science frees truth. Spencer declares it is demonstrated that God exists, and Tyndall refutes the charge of Atheism everywhere. Our poor interpretation is being remodeled and the truth made sure.

Jerusalem is being dug up like Troy, and, her defences revealed, her Bible proved no idle tale. Men have always been watching for truth, and when a new theory appears, a cry of heresy is raised, till some Galileo has decided to "cross this ghost though it do blast him," and has found those arms extended to help and not to destroy.

The true spirit of science is to draw us nearer to God, the great center of all knowledge. The wise men came to Jerusalem, but they could find Bethlehem only by Bible, and so God's word and works alike reveal the way to Him.

This essay drew forth a warm debate, which was kept up for over an hour, with the best feeling. Indeed, it is worthy of notice, that from beginning to end of this conference there has not been an unpleasant word, and we believe we are warranted in saying not an unpleasant feeling.

Elder Jon[es] saw a link between this scientific question and the preaching of doctrines. He would have the doctors dissect dead bodies and hang up a skeleton, but he wants heavenly men for his neighbors. So he would not [illegible] this doctrine as such, but as the Bible gives them, whole chapters together. He would give more for the history of the Moabitish stone and the translation of its record [illegible] legions. He believed in colleges, not to make scientific men. The time is too short. But where Christianity shines brightest, there men will make best telescopes and dig out the great [illegible] of history. Zenneus didn't get botany out of a college.

Bro. Bailey told us his version in the grandest way: It is to pack down thoughts like gunpowder [illegible] so the student can shoot well. Our colleges give [illegible] of language than of science,—just giving the students the key of science. Language has nothing to do with thought, hence we study mind instead of matter. [illegible] it must be Latin first, then G[reek] [illegible] is the [illegible] of our own language. The truth is the time they made us spend reading of men whose lives are so filthy they would not mention them in society. If I had spent the time used in reading Virgil, in digging out Hebrew, I might to-day be able to read Isaiah's glorious truth. Alexander Hamilton read Euclid once a month when pressed by business, but God said to Joshua not to study up your chemistry but the law of God.

My children shall never learn the Papist Latin. Give all the science you can, Chaldee and Greek and German, that language of grandest thought at present, and then if you have plenty of time teach them to read the Bible in Latin instead of reading filthy Horace.

I love to get together as brethren to find there are ten men we can count on the kingdom of God. I know where these men are, but I don't know but Bro. Jones will smash us all up, and Bro. Pierce will make fun of us. [Laughter.] It is a comfort to know there are 60,000 men in the ministry in the United States, who are turning over these things. It is like a logging bee where all our neighbors turn out to help us. These scientific men are working for my good—digging away the rubbish, and I love to see them do it, to save us the trouble. We take the results. They round the point one way but it is turned for God.

Here is another college (Yale) of great ability, don't think as I do, are prejudiced against me, perhaps. Yet when my worst enemy allows that I stand square, though he abominates me, I am inclined to favor his idea. These ten professors have looked over the world, spent ten years, laid out one hundred thousand dollars in canvassing all the words in our language, and you have the results in Webster's Unabridged of 1864 laid at our feet. Yale is dry Baptist, I am a wet one. There is a question between us on the meaning of a word, baptizo. A [illegible] told me that word was unfortunate. Yale traces it through the different languages and says it is derived from baptein, to dip in water. I thank them for it. They have saved us the trouble. Thousands of men are delving and bringing their products to the Christian's feet. An infidel cannot bring a Moabitish stone or record in the rocks to the scholarship of the world and bring up against the word of God. I don't want men going through the country offering that Solomon talked [illegible] Humboldt says the reign of the Prince of Peace is coming. Conditions are ameliorating, wars are ceasing, men are ceasing to hasten men to violent deaths; we are laying hold of the things which end in man's well-being. Elder Mattoon didn't wish to be contrary, but there is another thought: Bro. Jones would preach the whole Bible; he can do it; Bro. Bailey can't do it. I don't believe one of us will ever learn a tithe of the Bible. While science is well enough, the power of God is needed to melt strong hearts. It is the power of the Lord Jesus Christ.

A resolution was passed that when this body adjourns, it adjourn sine die, and that the older organization may be the active one at the next session, and hereafter.

After a season of prayer, the meeting adjourned till Thursday, at 10 o'clock A. M. for the final session.

It is certainly indicative of the progress of free thought that this meeting has discussed freely many questions in which there exist the greatest difference of views with the greatest harmony.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

J. M. G. Kallich offers a bargain in real estate.

A. S. Gross, under heads of "To Loan," "For Sale," and "Wanted," advertises something worth knowing.

A. B. Richardson will hold a regular and peremptory sale on Wednesday morning at his rooms of furniture and a lot of groceries. Rare opportunity for bargains.

The schools will open to day, and the boys and girls will want new books. They will receive a patent book cover at J. K. Gill's free with every purchase. See advertisement.

Mr. W. S. Newbury, attorney at law, who a few months ago opened his office in Holmes' building, is now cosily located in Monnastes' building, as will be seen by advertisement. Mr. Newbury is well known up the valley, and has made many friends in this city, and we trust he will find it convenient to remain with us all the time.

PAUSE WHILE YOU READ THIS! The season for parties and balls has arrived and the cold dreary days and nights of winter will soon visit us. Every young man, old man and boy for that matter, likes to present a neat appearance when attending parties, the theater, or walking about the streets. They likewise desire to be well provided against the cold blasts of snow and rain. What contributes more to the personal appearance and comfort of a gentleman, or boy, than a nice closely fitting suit of clothes, set off with a heavy warm overcoat? Why will any one be so foolish as to go without either, when BECK & WALDMAN have everything in that line. Beck & Waldman in laying in their immense fall and winter stock of Clothing have exercised great care, and selected with reference to the demands of trade. They have purchased their goods low and are determined not to be undersold. Let the public note this fact.

Do YOU WANT a fine suit?
Do you want good under clothing?
Do you want stylish furnishing goods?
Do you want a No. 1 dress suit?
Do you want a first class overcoat?
Do you want to dress in style?
Do you want to save money?
Do you want to get entire satisfaction?
Do you want to be happy and contented?
Do you want to look well [illegible]?
If you do, then call on JOSEPH KOHN, opposite the National Bank.

TO THE LADIES OF PORTLAND.

MRS. W. N. WALLACE has established a first class DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT in one of the new and Elegant Rooms on Stark Street, between First and Second, at which place she would respectfully solicit your patronage.

FATAL INFATUATION.

Do not, as you value life, entertain the idea that a cough is one of those casual local affections which require but little attention. This species of [illegible] menace of consumption, remember that. Annihilate the danger by extinguishing the complaint. The means await you at every drug store. HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR will, in every instance, effect a perfect cure of the threatening ailment without causing nausea, for it is pleasant to the palate as well as infallible.

PIKE'S TOOTH-ACHE DROPS—Cure in 1 minute.

The Mind Dependent on the Body.

Hypochondria is a far more common malady than is generally supposed. It has its degrees, it is true, progressing from mental depression, or the "blues," to mental hallucination; but they are all forms of the same malady. It is a significant fact that this mental ailment is invariably accompanied by dyspepsia and nervousness, and the fact that it readily yields to the alterative action of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which are peculiarly adapted to the eradication of indigestion and nervous debility proves that it originates in those complaints. It will thus be seen how dependent the mind is upon the body for the preservation of a cheerful equilibrium, and also how readily the causes of mental gloom may be removed. There is no surer or pleasanter way of shaking off a fit of depression brought on by indigestion, than by swallowing a dose or two of this agreeable medicine.

MONDAY MORNING JANUARY 4, 1875

A [illegible] REPLY

REV I D. DRIVER SUMS UP HIS CASE AND VINDICATES HIS KNOWLEDGE OF POETRY

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Arriving at home, I avail myself of the first possible moment to reply to Mr O Meara's "closing rejoinder" published in your issue of the 20th inst Not that I desire to prolong this controversy but from his own published statement prove the correctness of every charge I have made

First—Mr O Meara has traced the publication of the street difficulty between myself and Mr. Underwood to his own editorial and [illegible] it was false." Second—The language of that editorial itself clearly shows that his statements were founded on no higher evidence than conjecture He says "It seems that Mr Driver and Mr Underwood subsequently met on the street in Eugene City &c" Mr O Meara tries to evade by saying that his "information was furnished by a leading citizen of Eugene City," leaving every such "citizen" under that [illegible] But as I before remarked of the Eugene press I now say of the Eugene citizens, it was absolutely impossible for any "leading citizen" (without willful falsehood) to tell Mr O Meara any such thing as every such citizen knows that two or three weeks intervened between Mr Underwood's departure and my arrival and as the falsehood is traced by Mr. O Meara himself to his own editorial, it must there rest as his own fabrication, till he can show its origin and author back of himself. To show one of the two corrections Mr O Meara tells us of he quotes from the Eugene Guard another slander. One slander to correct another imitating the ancient legend of Satan's miraculous power in mending [illegible] the other, and yet his Satanic majesty didn't [illegible] the audacity to deny that [illegible] a [illegible] dog The other correction, he [illegible] published in the Bulletin of Oct. [illegible] he does not give us one word of what was [illegible]. And yet he says "it ought to have satisfied even Mr Driver" [illegible] another broken leg When a citizen of doubtful character is [illegible] journalism will withhold comment until he have a fair and impartial trial But Mr O'Meara can publish the grossest slander on no higher evidence than "it [illegible]" person "ought to be satisfied" with a correction equally false and slanderous, or another which he chooses to suppress

Now that Mr O'Meara has brought to light the [illegible] the Eugene Journal and Guard, I ask the privilege of meeting them in a respectable journal The Eugene Journal, as quoted by Mr O'Meara, says

> Mr Driver made a charge against Mr Underwood's veracity which would be, from Mr Driver's [illegible] equally applicable to several of our best citizens, that a man with more [illegible] would never have [illegible]

Why did not the Journal state what the charge was, why and how made, and give my language, (every word of which it supposed) that the readers might judge? My course of lectures, as already stated, was gotten up by the leading citizens of Eugene The Surveyor General had the posters struck and put up. From notes taken from Mr Underwood's lectures by the pastor of the old school Presbyterian church, (and the notes of other prominent gentlemen) I answered Mr Underwood's arguments against Christianity, taking up from night to night such subjects as [illegible] for. Among the things given me was, that Mr U declared himself an out and out Atheist, at [illegible] Mason. To this I replied that Mr Underwood, or any other man who claimed to be a Mason and an Atheist, "publ[illegible] to his own shame that he had sworn falsely by everything sacred to man" [illegible] of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, told Mr U in substance the same thing. My reasons for making this statement were I received this information masonically "I know, as every Mason knows, that Atheist is the express term of the masonic ritual, and being at that time chaplain for the Royal Arch [illegible] my obligation and honor bound me to remove the slander If the editor of the Journal was a Mason he knew that my statement [illegible] If he was not a Mason he published his own condemnation by making a statement about which he was entirely [illegible] all the facts lay far beyond his powers of investigation

The [illegible] from which Mr O'M[illegible] says

> [illegible] at any time during [illegible] it was a citizen of [illegible] control of his [illegible]

[illegible] of the OREGONIAN con[illegible] which the editor of the Guard [illegible] ressed. [illegible] streets [illegible] one of the blackest [illegible] humanity—that of throwing my aged father out of my wagon [illegible] him to the mercy of [illegible] the prey of wild beasts, when the most eminent gentlemen of the State (Judge Deady being one of them) will testify that after losing nearly all my property on the Plains, I brought that father to Oregon, and when wheat was $4 per bushel, made rails with my own hands to support him and kept him over six years, supporting him up to the day he was laid in his grave Now consider this a few minutes after hearing this slander, I met this citizen on the street and, kindly as I ever spoke to a man, said in my [illegible] familiar way "Uncle G, where did you get your information about my leaving my father on the Plains" etc In reply, he cursed me violently, saying "You have come to break down all Underwood has done [illegible] on the street." I then told him he had published a lie, and I would [illegible] him take it back And when before nineteen leading citizens (some of [illegible] were in the State) he did [illegible] I did not quietly submit, but dared to refute the vile slander, that [illegible] editor could [illegible] with hold [illegible] gly say "He has no more control of his passions than a mule has of his heels." And the accomplished Mr O'Meara has numbered himself among these "literary scavengers" and "hungry vultures" with "depraved appetites," by admitting that he has been feasting on the same food [illegible]

I must notice Mr. O'Meara's criticism on my quotation from an Irish poet. He says: "I fear my reverend accuser is indifferently read in poetry," and again "I hardly think any Irish poet, even of Mr Driver's acquaintance, was ever so woefully afflicted with the distemper which impels the patient to seize upon that which isn't his'n" etc. Here Mr. O Meara is sadly mistaken Mr Driver was well acquainted with the "poet" and the incident on which the poem was founded The incident was a veritable "street fight" in the town where Mr Driver was stationed. One man undertook to cane another The assailed drew a revolver, at the sight of which the man with the cane became extremely lonesome, and was seized with an uncontrollable desire to see his absent friends Suddenly changing his mind he concluded he had rather be called a coward all his life than a corpse fifteen minutes. He was barely successful in the choice of his future appellation, and has not yet [illegible] a corpse I have only room for short extracts from the poem After delineating the incident the poet comes down to the prayers of the wounded man, while the [illegible] of Extreme Unction was being administered

He cried Holy father look out for me soul
I been cheaten and lyin and usen the bowl.

And of his subdued spirit under the surgical operation together with his position when the shot was fired the poet says

"He's as perfect a marthyr as iver was found
See he lies on his face while they're probin' the wound!

And of apostacy with returning health

But as soon as he feels the last sthing of the pain
He's the viry same chap wid the viry same cane
For as sure as ye're liven the mark of the place
Ye niver can see while ye sthand at his face.

Then comes in the closing verse

When the divel gets sick the divel a saint will be &c

Mr O Meara, in his first paper quoted to me a p[illegible] of Scripture, written by Moses I now close by quoting one to him uttered by Christ which if adhered to by him would forever keep "street fights" out of his editorials He that is without sin, let him cast the first stone.

I D DRIVER.

In our last issue we gave the most complete statement of exports from Oregon ever published in our State and though sufficiently correct for all practical purposes one or two errors crept into the tabular work by reason of necessary haste on the part of the proof reader and to make these corrections as well as to satisfy the demand for issues of our paper containing the tables [illegible] them entire in this number. In these tables we give especial prominence to the wheat and flour shipments and a comparison of them with [illegible] very encouraging [illegible] made in [illegible] and exportation of these staples.

The ba[illegible] we have reckoned [illegible] and in O[illegible] that year made for the first time the export of our breadstuffs to Europe an important leading branch of our commerce The dispatch which vessels had at this port and the high freights which ruled induced a large number of vessels to come this way seeking cargoes. The consequence has been that so far during the present harvest year we have had an abundance of tonnage and vessels have arrived as rapidly and sometimes, more so than they could be loaded, until a fortnight ago when ships fully due failed to put in an appearance and our port is bare of vessels suitable for the grain carrying trade. The number now due and liable to arrive at any time however serves to keep wheat buyers in the market at current rates The number of vessels loaded this year with wheat and flour entirely has been [illegible] all of which with one exception are destined for English markets. The remainder of these exports have been [illegible] vessels with other cargo destined for San Francisco and the foreign ports named. There have perhaps been the equivalent of 5400 barrels of flour and [illegible] country by rail and [illegible] not counted in our [illegible] Reducing the flour to wheat we have in round numbers sent out of the State during the year the amount of [illegible] bushels of wheat an increase over 1873 of nearly one million bushels. The vessels loaded during the present harvest year so far is 52 against [illegible] for the corresponding period in 1873-4.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations must have extraordinary virtues—Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years by a long continued series of marvellous cures that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs Colds, Consumption, than can be made by medical skill Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY & COLOR

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment and hereditary predisposition all turn the hair gray and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, by long and extensive use has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately often renews the growth and always surely restores its color when faded or gray It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened lost hair regrows with lively expression falling hair is checked and established thin hair thickens and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which co[illegible] diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts
